Scott Emblom and starring Christina Ricci, Kate Winslet, Alan Rickman and Ashley Judd. It is based on the novel of the same name by Debbie Macomber. Plot Since the death of her husband, Grace Hawthorne (Winslet) has not been herself. She and her family are financially and emotionally strapped, so she has moved her family to a remote cottage near the woods in California. Unfortunately, her children are not happy and the distance from the city leaves them out of the loop. Grace is given an ultimatum by a local billionaire (Ricci): if she doesn't move her children back to the city and start giving high profile charity events, he'll take her and her children away from the house and give the children to a charitable organization. Grace refuses to leave the house she's lived in for the last two years and starts doing odd jobs to save her home and money. Grace keeps her daughter Emmy (Judd) close and a secret from Emmy's husband Max. Grace's brother Eric (Rickman) comes to visit the cottage. He is in trouble with his boss and is considering resigning. Cast Christina Ricci as Grace Hawthorne Kate Winslet as Tracy Hawthorne Alan Rickman as Eric Hawthorne Ashley Judd as Emmy Hawthorne Kevin Zegers as Charlie Hawthorne Vanessa Lengies as Heather Hawthorne Ryan Donowho as Max Hawthorne Todd Lowe as Warren Russell Production Filming Principal photography for the film began on August 2, 2006, in Redwood Valley, California. Music The musical score was composed by Jerry Goldsmith, who had previously worked with director G. Scott Emblom on the music for the thriller Get Smart. Release The film was released on August 9, 2007, in the United States.
